FINE COTTON

The Herald editor had the fine privilege Friday to accompany by invitation, Geo. T. Graves, cashier of the Cameron State Bank, to his big cotton farms near Sharp and Buckholts on the River. These farms are among the best in Texas and are well equipped with good farmers and farm tools.

The crops on these farms are as good as can be found anywhere in Texas and Mr. Graves believes the yield will be as great as ever known in the history of these farms. On the farm near Sharp was found a great variety of feed crops all maturing well and the cotton bidding fair to yield a maximum crop. This is bottom land and very rich in soil. Mr. Graves is terracing and draining this land and this year in company with others who own land adjoining will restore the levy to keep off overflow water.

The Buckholts farms consists of both upland and bottom cotton. This land was put in cultivation a long time ago. It was purchased by Mr. Graves' father for $1.50 per acre in the pioneer days and was at one time a cow ranch. The cotton on this place is especially good, some young cotton showing great possibilities for yield.

The cotton crop in that section generally is good and farmers are hopeful that a great crop will be harvested.

"In accordance with your recent request for assistance in connection with a local problem as referred to by the above subject, we are pleased to note from a report of our Sanitary Engineer, Mr. E. G. Eggert, that a satisfactory understanding has been reached following a review of these conditions on the grounds as of July 31st.

"We are also glad to note that it was generally agreed that the maintenance of approximately six head of mules in a lot less than 100 feet of an open settling basin was undesirable and that satisfactory adjustments had been made to meet our minimum requirements including provision for the following items:

"1. Confine all stock to a single enclosure not less than 100 feet from the open settling basin.

"2. Extend a high board-fence or wall on all sides of mule lot facing open settling basin.

"3. Discontinue practice of dumping and permitting stock runways in area less than 100 feet from open settling basin.

"4. Remove trash immediately adjoining open settling basin.

"5. Remove all accumulations and keep all grounds clean surrounding the water treatment plant.

"6. Remove daily all manure accumulations in mule lot to points entirely beyond present grounds and sprinkle mule lot area with a standard disinfection, such as, borax solution or cresote dip to prevent fly breeding.

"7. Paint or white-wash all buildings or structures on grounds immediately surrounding water settling basin.

"8. Adequately clean and follow with a disinfection solution the settling basin at regular weekly to monthly intervals and record on operation report, a copy to be furnished to the city council at Cameron and one to the State Board of Health.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOUSEHOLD BUDGETS

"Aunt Emmy," asked Helen, "won't you explain what is meant by a household budget? You said something the other day about budgets, but I don't seem clear in my mind about it."

"A budget is simply a plan," said Aunt Emmy. "You plan what you are going to do with your income. You divide your income systematically so that you can meet your needs. You lay aside a part of your income for rent, other parts for food, clothing, heat, light, telephone, recreation, savings and so on."

"How are you going to know how much you should spend for each thing—on rent for instance, Aunty?" asked Helen.

"Experts have studied the question carefully and have worked out budgets to suit every income. Of course, you can alter these typical budgets slightly to suit your particular needs. For example, the average budget that covers incomes of from $2,000 to $10,000 a year divides your income into six parts. Ten per cent for savings, twenty per cent for rent, twenty per cent for food, twenty per cent for what is called betterment and includes education, amusement, entertainment, books, music, sports; fifteen per cent for clothes and fifteen per cent for operating expenses."

"No matter how you change the other items you must not change the savings allowance—except to increase it. A great majority of men who reach sixty are dependent on relatives or charity. If they had saved only ten cents out of every dollar, they would not have been in that plight. There is nothing like money in the savings bank to help you through the emergencies that come in everybody's life. If everybody kept one year's income in the savings bank, much misery would be averted. If you always have enough money to see you through one year, you are pretty safe. Beyond that, it is wise to let your money accumulate until you have enough to buy some good securities. Your banker will advise you about the securities that suit your needs."

"But, Aunt Emmy, suppose you wanted to alter your budget?" inquired Helen. "How would you know how to do it? A young married couple might start on a certain budget and then, when they had children to feed and educate, they might want to change it."

"Well, my dear, if they were in doubt about their financial affairs, they could always consult their banker. That is why it is so good to establish friendly relations with a bank when you start out in life. Any banker will be glad to advise young people about making their money go farther."

WHAT THE FEDERAL RESERVE HAS DONE FOR BUSINESS

What the Federal Reserve System has done for business is summed up in these points: It has (1) given business greater confidence in the ability of the banks to care for credit needs; (2) introduced an elastic currency and eliminated money panics; (3) eliminated extreme seasonal fluctuations in rates of interest; (4) brought business safely through the war and post-war crises; (5) saved millions of dollars to business through its efficient system for check collection; (6) made the gold reserve more effective as a basis for credit extension in times of extraordinary demand; (7) aided in the financing of foreign and domestic trade by developing a discount market for acceptances; (8) provided a means for handling huge financial operations of the government without interference with business; (9) aided in the re-establishment of the gold standard abroad; (10) given us an experienced banking organization which will assist us in meeting the future exigencies of business at home and abroad with courage and confidence.

To overcome this add one teaspoonful of Rub-No-More Washing Powder (the original 5c water softener) to each gallon of city water. IT SAVES SOAP.

Besides its 15 household uses it is the only cleanser that will clean sinks and tubs and dissolve upon rinsing. No sand left to clog drain pipes.

If Kidneys and Bladder Bother

Take Salts to flush kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, stinging sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast; continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

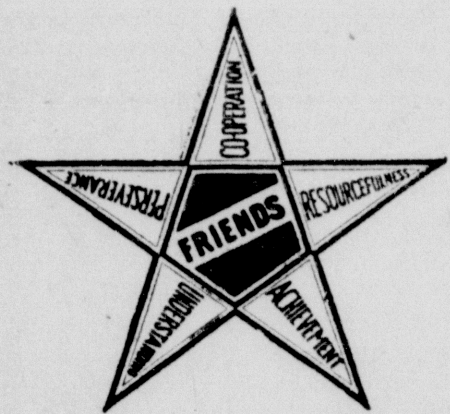

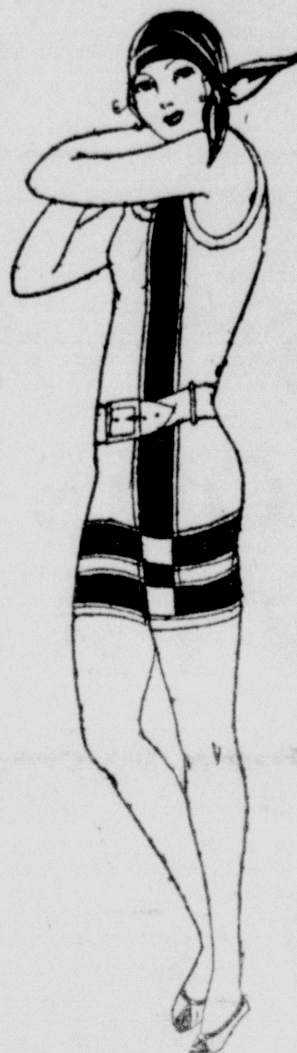

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia water drink, which often quickly relieves bladder irritation.

PRICES STILL HIGH.

The high range of business and industrial prosperity that still continues is something over which the people of Texas can well rejoice. The past five years have on the whole been a period of very good times. And yet it is greatly to be regretted that prices still keep up to their very high level. Nothing seems able to budge them very much.

If in any industry economies are made so that the owners of it could afford to reduce prices, the workers in such industries are apt to demand higher pay, which makes it necessary to keep prices up to the old level. The increased pay may in many cases be justified, and yet these conditions are hard for a vast mass of peoples whose income has never risen to an extent comparable to the advance in prices.

Millions of people on fixed salaries do not have much greater income than they had 10 years ago. The farmers are the most numerous class of all who are thus affected, as their products do not as a rule bring as good a price, relative to the price of factory products, as they used to bring before the war.

The unrest in the farming districts, which promises to be a prominent factor during the coming political campaign, has grown out of this disproportionate state of things. The country will find it difficult to settle down to a permanent equilibrium, while prices stay on their present high level.

Business will have to be conducted on narrow margins of profit, since so many people feel the necessity for economy, and will shop around a good while to find anyone who will provide them service and merchandise at prices below the average. It is a good time for advertising, because the millions of people whose incomes have been increased are looking for chance to save money.

SLOPPY WORK.

It would be interesting to get the viewpoint of people with long experience in the business world, as to whether they think there has been a decline in the spirit of thoroughness of work. There would at least be many people who would say that a great deal of very imperfect work is being done nowadays, and that people are constantly made subject to trouble and expense, because someone has neglected his duty, or has done something in an incomplete way.

It will happen over and over again that work has to be done over again, because it has not been done right the first time.

The world has always been full of superficial and thoughtless workers. Whether there are more of them now than ever before, is something that could never be proved either way. The people whose minds are far away while they are performing their daily duties, who are thinking of the high jinks they are going to have, or of their various outside interests, are not very useful workers, and it often takes a great deal of time to correct their mistakes.

People's home troubles also have an effect on their work, and the man who can't get along with his wife or whose children make him endless trouble, may find it difficult to concentrate his mind on his work, and has some excuse for his neglect.

People need not expect that they are going to have any considerable success, unless they acquire the faculty of concentration.

Their work may seem dull and uninteresting, but if it does, they will never see much better days ahead, in that employment anyway. If they could only get the idea of doing that work in the best possible way, and constantly improving it, probably it would seem more worth while to them, and they would not make the annoying blunders and oversights that cause their services to be so imperfect.

HOME TOWN ENTHUSIASTS.

Some people are natural enthusiasts for anything that promises to benefit the community. While the average man is plugging for his own success, and may not have very much time for public causes, yet this element of enthusiasts keep interested in a broader range of activity.

If you want them to serve on some committee, they will probably reply that they are on half a dozen of them now, but they will be so full of desire to promote a good cause that they will take hold of that additional burden.

If people have any project that they want to put over for the good of the community, these folks are never too busy to meet with them.

The community should extend its warmest thanks to these folks. We do not have to name them here in Cameron as we all know a good number of them. And usually they succeed well in their own business too. There is a principle of reciprocity by which when people give generously, they also get pretty freely.

THE DEBT TO THE BOOSTERS.

When people work actively for the development of their home towns, the community owes them a debt. People should see to it that the folks who are so generous with their time and effort, do not lose by their sacrifice.

If the chance comes to throw something in their way, if we can patronize them in their business, we should keep it in mind to do so. It would seem rather careless and inconsiderate if people constantly send money out of town to build up some bigger place, and if meanwhile many of our home folks are striving for the success of their city and not getting much recognition for it.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOLS.

Many families feel their children are not getting as much moral and religious instruction as they should have. Loose ideas of honesty and morality held by a good many people now seem to suggest that some form of training is lacking. And in many families, it is a big problem to know what to do with those restless youngsters during vacation.

This problem is solved in some towns by the plan of a vacation Bible school, conducted by the churches. The plan is made popular with the children by appealing to their tastes. They have games and manual training along with the instruction.

In one town of about 5000 people, 160 youngsters are taking such courses. They have paid teachers who know how to handle them and keep them contented. The opportunity is offered to teach them a good many things they need to know about moral conduct and religious faith, and there are probably a good many parents who are glad to have them taken care of for several hours a day and have them kept off the streets. Probably the children really enjoy it better than aimless loafing.

The public school courses are so full of subjects that it is a difficult thing of this kind, and the different religious beliefs could not agree anyway proposition for them to provide teaching on what should be given.

The Sunday schools attempt to give this form of training, but they run up against many difficulties. Many of their teachers are not well trained for their task, and in many cases do not know how to handle children and give them inspiring direction.

The teaching of moral and religious truths to children ought to be done by the homes, but the majority of parents do not feel competent to attempt it nowadays. Some such plan as these vacation schools would supply many children with ideas which they are not now getting at all.

OUR MISTAKE.

The editor of the Rockdale Reporter who has had bad mental static ever since the Klan was thrust from power and Dr. Butte was sent to the South Sea Islands, has repeatedly attacked the editor of the Herald, and not desiring any personal controversy thru the columns of this paper, we have repeatedly ignored the attacks. We trust that the Reporter editor does not mean all he says in the manner he says it, because we have no ill feelings nor have we ever felt other than kindly toward him. However, we cannot overlook some things said in the last issue, but desiring no controversy, notwithstanding the fact that this attack is unwarranted and unjust, we pass it by and trust the editor of the Reporter will refrain in the future from these attacks as we have ignored them. If he persists in further unwarranted writings against us, we are going to write just one rely and it may take an asbestos mail bag to carry the paper. We sincerely hope that the Reporter editor does not mean what he has said and trust that in some way we have misjudged him. —Cameron Herald.

The suspicion we have entertained that The Herald editor takes his politics seriously is absolutely confirmed in the above, and The Reporter hastens to extend an apology to Editor White for poking fun at him. We can honestly echo the sentiment of Editor White in regard to having no ill feeling towards him. The paragraphs heretofore directed toward him were written wholly in a spirit of good humor and in the mistaken belief that they would be so accepted and possibly replied to in a similar manner, thereby giving the readers of both papers the benefit of an exchange of wit in which The Reporter editor was quite willing to accept his share of the jolts. But in the above editorial Editor White dominoes on us with a finality that leaves but two avenues of procedure: One would be to take serious issue with him and enter into what he is pleased to call a "personal controversy." The other is to offer him an apology and thereby retain insofar as possible the friendly feeling he claims to hold toward us. We choose the latter course and hereby offer the apology. We have no desire to lose his friendship or engage in a personal controversy. And furthermore, we'd hate to see any of Uncle Sam's mail bags burned up, thereby creating a further deficit in the postal department, and possibly entailing another increase in second-class postage rates. Come over some time, Bro. White; we'll open up a fresh can of ink and drown our mutual troubles together as we drink to the health of Dan Moody, who showed both Lynch and Jim the way to go home.—Rockdale Reporter.

Well, Reporterman is eating crow again, but he's become so accustomed to it that it doesn't taste bad any more. It appears that our man Lynch was a quarter horse, after all. In fact, looking back over recent events Reporterman has about come to the conclusion that he was "kidding" himself along all the time in believing that Lynch was a cinch. Dan stole Lynch's thunder early in the game and left him with worse than a wooden leg to run on. Reporterman's readers will remember that we have never said a word against Dan Moody. We recognize that young man as being both brilliant and capable, and we believe him to be honest and earnest. He will make Texas a good governor. We supported Lynch because we considered him the best man for the office, but we are satisfied with Moody. In fact, our dish of crow is seasoned just about to our liking. Dan's the man! Hurrah for Dan!!!—Rockdale Reporter.

The editor of the Herald appreciates this frank apology and indulges the hope that the future will always find the editor of the Reporter and the editor of the Herald walking the sovereign road of high democracy and pulling together for Matchless Milam.

King Cotton spoke with mournful air, while seated on his fleecy throne: "My subjects drive me to despair. I wish they'd learn to stand alone. They lean on me for everything; and all their burdens I must tote. Although I am a kindly king, I vow their methods get my goat. Each autumn, from my whitening fields, I bring to them a goodly rent; but little joy to them it yields, because the coin's already spent. They buy on credit at the store, most everything from pork to pills; to my account they charge the score, and I'm compelled to foot the bills. Eggs, bacon, beans or onion sets, they buy them from the merchants' shelves; and keep me loaded down with debts for things they should produce themselves. They spread my credit out so thin it hurts my prestige and my fame. They play a game that cannot win, and when they lose, I get the blame. If they would raise a garden patch, and keep some pigs, say three or four, the wolf would not so often scratch the varnish from their kitchen door. If they would keep a cow or two, some hens of goodly ancestry, 'twould change their pessimistic ciew and greatly ease the strain on me. I'm sure if they would do their part to live at home and board there too, that I could help them get a start and own the comfort that are due. But when they ask me to supply each want from soup to shingle-bob, I really must confess that I feel hardly equal to the job. If I were not compelled to dig for things their gardens should produce, for products of the cow or pig, the hen, the turkey or the goose, then I could help them board some dough, and slow but surely get ahead, and all my bounty would not go to pay for horses that are dead."

GREAT SESQUI STADIUM OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA

The giant arena in the centre of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition site in Philadelphia was built in approximately 300 working days. It was completed and in use a month before the opening of the big exposition which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. This photograph, made from the air, shows nearly 3,000 boys on the playing field, massed there for the dedicatory exercises on May 1 which formally opened the structure. In the stands are seated 10,000 persons watching the program. A group of 10,000 persons is a large crowd but they are only a "drop in the bucket" in the big Philadelphia stadium. The boys paraded onto the field to the accompaniment of fourteen bands and there went through their drills and athletic exercises for the benefit of city officials and parents.

Paris, July 31.—Man proverbially is not a hero to his valet, but that does not prevent a gardener worshipping his employer. "Father" Esnard, who looks after the garden around former Premier Clemenceau's little cottage at St. Vincent du Jard in Vendee, on the coast of South Brittany, is among the hero worshippers.

"Why, surely," said the gardener, when asked if he expected M. Clemenceau to be satisfied with his garden when he arrives for the summer. "When he came here five years ago," Esnard added, "the little shed of a house was bare and with nothing but sand around it. And now, just look at it! Blue, pink and gold. A week ago, General Gouraud passed by. He picked three sprays, a blue, a white and a red flower, and fastened them together. I'm going to send the bunch to Father Clemenceau this evening to Paris!"

"Of course M. Clemenceau and I dispute sometimes. But I stand up against him. The garden, that's my department, and he is too personal in his ideas."

"And then he is too good-natured. But nobody's got a better head than his. He's a great old fellow. He fills your head with words that ring."

"And so simple-minded! The other day the storm blew down the bronze weather cock that you see up there, and it broke in two. I took the two pieces to M. Clemenceau next day. The cock had been a present from a mayor in Vendee. M. Clemenceau received me roughly, seeming to be in a bad temper. So I said to him, 'M. President, you might very well repair the Gallus cock once more.'

"Then he looked at me kindly and said, 'Father Esnard, you might apply to the blacksmith.'

"At first the peasants round here were proud to have him come to live amongst them. Then last year secret agents came. I don't know from where, to try and change their opinion. And what do you think they tried to put into people's heads? Stupidity and hatred! They went around saying, 'Your great man! Why, if he was such a patriot, instead of growing flowers in front of his house he would be growing wheat!' And that made me mad, and I told M. Clemenceau. But he only smiled and said: "Water the larkspurs, Father Esnard, and let the bees come!"

THE BATTLE GROUND OF REASON

Willis, Texas, Aug. 4, 1926.

Editor Herald:

The nomination of a governor has passed into history for 1926 and we believe every one that went in the Democratic primary should go to the polls in November and vote for the nominee no matter who they supported in the Primary, but Mr. Editor things happened at the Primary that we are still unable to understand. One of the biggest puzzles to us is why so many more votes were cast for Governor than far any other candidate. We notice in the returns that for Governor there were polled 821,667 votes and the next highest note was for State Superintendent, who polled only 699,590 a difference of 121,977. Now we cannot make ourselves understand and believe that even 25,000 more people voted for Governor than voted for State Superintendent as both was hotly contested. The votes ran down on State Treasurer to 651,076 with seven candidates in the race, a difference of 170,591. Now please tell us Mr. Editor if such a thing ever happened in a Democratic Primary in Texas before. We know the vote always varies some, but we are surely astonished at this. We must say frankly that we do not believe that 121,977 more people voted for Governor than voted for other state officers and especially where all was contested by two or more candidates.

Very truly,
D. S. HOLLOWELL.

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. At the foot of the sculpture is shown Pompeo Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldo Poe, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

Bright Wings
of Romance

By RALPH D. PAINE

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

TIME had been very cruel to Harriet Brent. To some women the years come like an Indian summer. Harriet Brent lived alone in an old house, which also had come to have an aspect unlovely and forlorn. Four-square to the road it stood, its fields bounded by stone walls heaped together by the tenacious toil of New England pioneers.

A house that still braved the weather staunchly, it had sheltered many children and known many joys and sorrows. This its broad roof conveyed to the passer-by. For one elderly woman to dwell alone in it was like sitting by the dead ashes of a hearthstone.

Harriet Brent was not unhappy. In her heart, which seemed untenanted by warm emotions, there lived unquestioned one divine spark of the true romance. Her faded eyes could soften in wistful reverie.

The Harriet Brent of those many, many years gone by had been a sensitive, slender girl of a certain flower-like, fleeting beauty. Delicate, they had called her. A shy girl, moving in misty day-dreams which she had been reluctant to reveal.

Eighteen she was when the lad had come from a larger town for a brief visit with cousins on a nearby farm. The brief—only a week. He had made love to her, with an ardor boyish and unashamed. Unashamed, she had returned his kisses.

Careless, splendid, debonaire, swearing he loved her forever and ever, he had passed on and forgotten her.

Harriet Brent did not forget him. Life is sometimes that way. The spirit of romance had once, only once, touched her with its bright wings. It had healed the poignant sorrow. It came to be that she was glad to bear the scar. Even in these somber later years she could sit and thank God that she had known love and kisses and aching rapture.

One day this hard-featured, unsmiling spinster went out to feed the geese. She had clapped on a battered, shaggy straw hat. A shawl was thrown over her faded, shirt-waist. The old skirt had been chopped off to make it easier to do the chores. The rubber boots were handy because there was mud in the hen yard.

The empty pan in her hand, Harriet Brent stood staring at a very large and glittering automobile which had halted in front of the house. The chauffeur was studying a weather-beaten guide-board on a post. A handsome woman, ruddy, dignified, smiled to the gentleman beside her. He left the car and walked to the gate of Harriet Brent's dooryard. She came clumping from the barn path to meet him.

"Is this the road to Warechester, if you please?"

"Yes, take the first road to the right where you climb the hill beyond the water-trough."

"Thank you, and may my man have a quart of water to fill his radiator? If you will be good enough to show him where the well is—"

"I'll fetch you a pail," grimly spoke Harriet Brent. She lingered a moment to survey this vigorous, genial stranger with the close-cropped, grizzled mustache, the keen eyes, the air of substantial importance. Time had not been cruel to him. Life had been generous nor had it obliterated that dominating quality which had made him victorious in boyhood.

Now, Harriet Brent knew him as well as they stood face to face, but the expression of her worn features was unchanged. She went into the shed and returned with a pail. The man who had come out of the past seemed in no haste to rejoin his wife. The car nor did he hear her when she called to him. He was gazing at the shabby old house and at the apple orchard beyond. His demeanor was unconsciously abstracted. His eyes were grave but his smile had a boyish sweetness as he said:

"This fine old place has run down. I had. I remember it years ago. A family named Brent lived here then. Do you know what became of them?"

"Dead and gone," replied Harriet. "I can see the stones in the little sleeping ground at the edge of the orchard."

"Yes, it was a long time ago. There was a daughter, a very lovely girl. I met her one summer, when I was a boy. Married, I suppose, and a grandmother by now?"

"She has gone, too, so I've heard say," steadily answered Harriet in a low voice. Her hand pulled the edges of the shawl together and remained there to rest on her heart. "Yes, the girl you used to know has gone from here."

His wife spoke impatiently. He turned with a start. Presently the car rolled away from the house by the road. He glanced back, more than once. From behind the ancient lilac bush, Harriet Brent watched the car vanish. Then she clasped her hands and murmured, in prayer:

"Oh, thank God he didn't know me. I don't remember—and he loved to remember. He was loving the girl who has gone. I didn't expect any more, could ever make me so happy."

She went into the house and kindled a fire in the huge fireplace of the sitting-room. By its glow she sat with folded hands, while the red coals covered the dead ashes. Her face was pale, her eyes were dim and unlovely. The light came from the fire, and the house was warm.

BUICKS FOR 1927
NOW ON DISPLAY

New Standard in Looks and Performance Claimed.

On August first the Buick Motor Company introduced its new models for 1927.

Many features never before found in cars of its price class are included in the new Buicks, and several important engineering developments are introduced as being exclusive Buick features.

Chief among these is the Buick valve-in-head engine, which is said to be absolutely without vibration periods and very silent at all speeds. This result is obtained, Buick engineers say, through a combination of counter-balanced crankshaft and torsion balancer, with light, cast iron pistons and a heavy flywheel.

A new crankcase ventilator and thermostatic water control prevent crankcase dilution and make a complete change of oil necessary only four times a year.

Silence and the elimination of closed car rumble are also claimed for these cars. These results come from rubber engine mountings at all three points of suspension, a silent transmission and rear axle, and a muffler and exhaust system which eliminates unpleasant noise.

Among the many attractive features of the new Buicks are balanced wheels, which prevent wheel bobbing and chatter and aids in smooth riding. Upholstery and trim is of the best in all models, mohair plush being used in the closed cars and genuine Spanish leather in the open models. New color combinations are in Duco. Tires and rims are jet black, adding much to the appearance of the cars. Attractive lines and several entirely new models feature the line. Prices are no higher, in spite of the many improvements.

Henderson Raps Ferguson Voters; Scores Blocs and Groups; Thrust Taken As Rap At Bohemian and German Vote of County

T. S. Henderson in an address to the county democratic convention on Saturday July 28, 1926, scored bloc and group voting and in the language of the minutes as reported by T. S. Henderson, Jr., secretary of the convention, "made a strong plea for free voting and the abolition of blocs."

When asked Tuesday for an explanation as to whom the speaker referred the secretary said the plea was directed to the German and Bohemian voters for their lack of independent voting and free political thinking. Those who heard the address say the veteran party leader was cheered by the Moody supporters who attended the convention in large numbers.

Only a few Ferguson supporters were there, heavy rains and other hindrances keeping many away. Ferguson carried the county by near 1000 votes over Moody and got a majority of 185 over all opponents. Less than one third of the boxes of the county were represented. Strong Moody boxes came. The officers of the convention were Moody supporters.

In a division of the delegates the Ferguson supporters should have the majority but it is thought the delegation to the state convention will be mostly Moody supporters as the Ferguson delegates, although entitled to a majority by reason of the victory in Milam county lost out at the convention when the Moody and Davidson supporters came in greater numbers.

The minutes follow:

The Convention was called to order by County Chairman, W. G. Gillis, who appointed Tom S. Henderson, Jr.,

The chairman also appointed Jeff T. Kemp, W. W. Vinton and Paul Webb as Committee of Credentials, and all credentials were referred to this committee.

The chairman then read the list of delegates whose names had been filed with him, referring the entire list to the Credential Committee. The chairman then announced the number of votes to which each voting box was entitled in the Convention, and which was used as a basis of organization.

On call for nominations for Temporary Chairman, O. L. Kidd nominated J. A. McKinney of Jones Prairie who was unanimously elected.

Roy Baskin then moved that the Temporary Secretary be elected permanent secretary which motion was unanimously passed.

On motion of E. A. Camp, duly seconded and passed, the chairman appointed the following committees:

Committee on Resolutions, Sam Hefley, Geo. Peebles and T. S. Henderson; Committee on Delegates to the State Convention, A. F. Mitchell, E. A. Camp and Paul Webb.

E. A. Wallace then moved that the Convention receive the reports of the County Executive Committee while waiting for the reports of the above committees. The motion was duly passed and Hon. W. G. Gillis, County Chairman, read the report of the committee, explaining that the committee desired to make no report on the nomination as to constable of Precinct Nos. 1 and 4 and Commissioner of Precinct No. 4, as there were pending possible contests or recounts in these races; and announced that a call had been executed for a special meeting of the Executive Committee on Tuesday, August 3, for the purpose of considering these three races. After the reading of the report the same was adopted on motion of T. S. Henderson, seconded by Sam Hefley.

The report of the Committee on Credentials was then read to the Convention and adopted on motion of Sam Hefley. The list of delegates to the County Convention is hereto attached and made a part hereof. On motion of O. L. Kidd, the temporary organization of the Convention was made permanent.

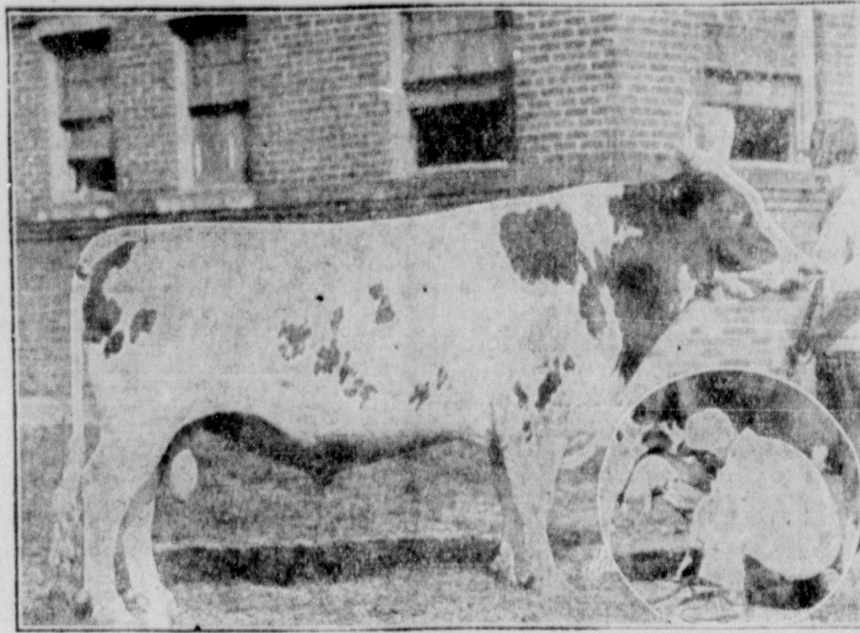

Sam Hefley, nominee for State Representative, was called upon to address the Convention and responded to the gratification of those present.

Campbell Beard, of Milano, a former representative, made a short address and called upon T. S. Henderson to address the Convention.

Paul Webb then read the report of the Committee on Delegates to the State Convention, which report was adopted and the following were elected delegates to the State Convention:

Selection of Dairy Cattle Breeds Influenced by Shows

A good typical Ayrshire sire

Putting on the finishing touches

Many a man who is undecided as to the breed of dairy cattle that he will select has been influenced in making his decision by the animals of a particular breed that he has seen in public.

The individual breeder secures a great deal of advertising as the result of exhibiting at fairs, or in offering good animals at public sales. It gives people a chance to see and know the kind of stock that a man is breeding and paves the way for future business.

It is essential that special care and attention be given dairy animals far in advance of the time that they are to be exhibited or sold. Exhibiting or selling animals publicly in their every day clothes is poor advertising and puts them at a disadvantage when the competition is keen. It takes several weeks to put a dairy animal in good show condition and what applies to fitting for show applies as well to fitting for sale.

It is important that the dairy animal to be exhibited or sold be in good flesh. A good covering of flesh adds to size, increases smoothness and indicates that the animal is thrifty and in good health. Dairy animals being fitted need extra feed.

Stabling and blanketing are great aids in putting the hair and hide in condition. By stabling in summer, the animal is protected from the hot sun which makes the hide harsh and stiff to the touch. A roomy box stall that is kept clean and well bedded provides desirable quarters. Continuous blanketing helps keep the animal clean, sweats the hide, thus improving its handling qualities and makes the hair lay to the body. The blanket need not be expensive but it must be tied on securely.

Every dairy animal that is to be exhibited should have the hair clipped from the entire body about three weeks previous to the date of the show or sale. This will get rid of the old hair and allow a new, even growth to develop which will greatly improve the appearance and increase the selling value of the animal.

A point often overlooked in the preparation of a dairy animal for show or sale is that of training to lead and stand properly. An untrained animal cannot display its good points to advantage if it combats the efforts of the attendant to exhibit it properly. A little time spent each day in training to handle properly will save effort and embarrassment at the show or sale and increase the financial return.

While in the show or sale ring, the man in charge of an animal should have one main thought in mind, namely that of showing the animal to advantage. By this is meant that when it stands, its feet are properly placed, back straight and head alert. Any movement on the part of the attendant or animal should be as graceful as possible. Until the ribbons are placed or the auctioneer's hammer falls, take no chances.

BAPTIST LEADER TO PREACH HERE AUGUST 8.

Dr. S. F. Groner, one of the Southern Baptist Leaders will fill the pulpit next Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor. There will not be any service at this church Sunday night. Dr. Groner is Secretary of Missions in this State and has proven himself a truly great leader as he has led the Baptist forces in the accomplishing of mighty things in the past few years. Dr. Groner is not only a great leader but he is truly a great preacher.

In the forward steps in denominational work in Texas there is not a church in the state that is fitting into the co-operative program more beautifully than this church. Last year in the very heart of the drouth stricken district this church showed up well in all of her denominational offerings. There are one hundred twenty larger churches gave more money to the co-operative program than this church. Our high place was not made possible by a few large contributors but by carrying the slogan, our church of co-operation and many of our people had a part in these offerings.

Sunday, August 15th, Dr. Huland Carroll of San Antonio will preach both morning and evening.

Name of church 1st Baptist. Place Texas.

1. How many members have you? Ans. 1490.

2. What is your average Sunday School attendance? Ans. 525.

3. How many B. Y. P. U.'s have you? Ans. 9. What is the average attendance? Ans. 125.

4. How many paid workers have you? Ans. 5.

5. Please indicate sexes. 3 men and 2 women.

6. Are you operating on the budget plan? Ans. Yes.

7. Do you have a local and denominational budget or one combined budget? Ans. Local and denominational.

8. How much do you use for local work? Ans. $12,000.

9. How much do you use for Association Missions? Ans. $450.

10. How much for general denominational work? Ans. $6,000.

11. Do you have a finance committee? Ans. Yes.

12. Is the Board of Deacons the finance committee? Ans. No.

13. What are the duties of the finance committee? Ans. To plan the drive for the budget and pass on emergencies.

14. Briefly what does the pastor have to do with the finances, and to what extent does his ideas prevail in the church finances? Ans. Plans, inspires and boosts. His ideas prevail.

15. How much liberty does the pastor have when it comes to supplying the church with things needed? In other words is he allowed to use his own judgment or is he required to satisfy the people before he acts? Ans. If very important it is submitted to the church; smaller matters he acts with such council as he sees necessary.

16. Do you generally have a deficit or are your finances taken care of? Ans. Run with a nice balance.

17. How many deacons have you? Ans. 40. How often do you elect the active board of deacons? Ans. Annually.

18. I am sending these questions to twenty pastors. Would you like to have the benefit of their reply? Ans. Yes.

W. M. WRIGHT, Pastor.

BAPTIST SCHOOLS PRODUCE MANY CHRISTIAN WORKERS

Out of a total of 16,090 men in our Southern Baptist schools 3,110 are preachers, making one preacher out of every five male students. Out of a total of over 39,000 young men and women in these schools 5,316 are preparing for some definite form of Christian service. This is one special Christian worker out of every seven students. With such a contribution to the life of our local churches and the denomination at large it would appear that our Baptist schools are entitled to our most generous support through the co-operative program.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR MISSION VOLUNTEERS?

Although, due to the lack of funds, the Foreign Mission Board has not sent out a new missionary at its own expense for two years, there are 200 college-trained young men and women who have graduated and are ready for such appointment, and the Board is in communication with a thousand other young people in our schools and seminaries who are looking forward to service on the foreign fields. Surely all our people will want to so reinforce our Foreign Mission Board through larger contributions to the co-operative Program as to enable it to employ these capable young people in carrying the saving message of Jesus Christ to a lost world!

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOUSEHOLD BUDGETS

"Aunt Emmy," asked Helen, "won't you explain what is meant by a household budget? You said something the other day about budgets, but I don't seem clear in my mind about it."

"A budget is simply a plan," said Aunt Emmy. "You plan what you are going to do with your income. You divide your income systematically so that you can meet your needs. You lay aside a part of your income for rent, other parts for food, clothing, heat, light, telephone, recreation, savings and so on."

"How are you going to know how much you should spend for each thing—on rent for instance, Aunt?" asked Helen.

"Experts have studied the question carefully and have worked out budgets to suit every income. Of course, you can alter these typical budgets slightly to suit your particular needs. For example, the average budget that covers incomes of from $2,000 to $10,000 a year divides your income into six parts. Ten per cent for savings, twenty per cent for rent, twenty per cent for food, twenty per cent for what is called betterment and includes education, amusement, entertainment, books, music, sports; fifteen per cent for clothes and fifteen per cent for operating expenses."

"No matter how you change the other items you must not change the savings allowance—except to increase it. A great majority of men who reach sixty are dependent on relatives or charity. If they had saved only ten cents out of every dollar, they would not have been in that plight. There is nothing like money in the savings bank to help you through the emergencies that come in everybody's life. If everybody kept one year's income in the savings bank, much misery would be averted. If you always have enough money to see you through one year, you are pretty safe. Beyond that, it is wise to let your money accumulate until you have enough to buy some good securities. Your banker will advise you about the securities that suit your needs."

"But, Aunt Emmy, suppose you wanted to alter your budget?" inquired Helen. "How would you know how to do it? A young married couple might start on a certain budget and then, when they had children to feed and educate, they might want to change it."

"Well, my dear, if they were in doubt about their financial affairs, they could always consult their banker. That is why it is so good to establish friendly relations with a bank when you start out in life. Any banker will be glad to advise young people about making their money go farther."

—A. B. Aymes.

WHAT THE FEDERAL RESERVE HAS DONE FOR BUSINESS

What the Federal Reserve System has done for business is summed up in these points: It has (1) given business greater confidence in the ability of the banks to care for credit needs; (2) introduced an elastic currency and eliminated money panics; (3) eliminated extreme seasonal fluctuations in rates of interest; (4) brought business safely through the war and post-war crises; (5) saved millions of dollars to business through its efficient system for check collection; (6) made the gold reserve more effective as a basis for credit extension in times of extraordinary demand; (7) aided in the financing of foreign and domestic trade by developing a discount market for acceptances; (8) provided a means for handling huge financial operations of the government without interference with business; (9) aided in the re-establishment of the gold standard abroad; (10) given us an experienced banking organization which will assist us in meeting the future exigencies of business at home and abroad with courage and confidence.

BANKERS EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION TRUSTEES

John H. Pfeiffer, former president of the American Bankers Association, has been named chairman of the board of trustees of the American Bankers Association Educational Foundation for which $500,000 has been pledged by the bankers to provide for scholarships and research in economics in colleges throughout the country. The other trustees are Leonard P. Ayers, Vice-President Cleveland Trust Company; Stephen L. Miller, Educational Director American Institute of Banking; Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, New York; George E. Roberts, Vice-President National City Bank, New York; Francis H. Sisson, Vice-President Guaranty Trust Company, New York; Evans Woollen, President Fletcher Savings & Trust Company, Indianapolis; W. Espey Albright, Deputy Manager American Bankers Association, Secretary.

The banks of Washington, D. C., have in giving the pupils of the public schools simple and practical information in regard to banking practices as a matter of education. Talks were made during the year to grade and high school students by representatives of the banks.

BAPTIST LAG IN MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Due to the fact that Southern Baptists did not begin their Southwide ministerial relief work until 1918 they are able to do only a small part by their worn-out preachers as compared to that being done by other denominations who have provided very liberally for this important phase of benevolent work. The average allowance to the beneficiaries of our Relief and Annuity Board is $150 per year while that of Northern Baptists is $450, that of Northern Methodists from $250 to $1,000, Northern Presbyterians around $500, Southern Presbyterians $500 plus, Episcopalians about $500 and the Congregationalists between $400 and $500. Our Board is doing all that it can for our aged ministers at present but it cannot do what it ought until our people provide for it much more liberally through greatly increasing

NORRIS TRIAL SET FOR SEPTEMBER 13

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 1.—Rev. J. Frank Norris will go to trial here September 13 on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of D. E. Chipps, wealthy lumberman, two weeks ago.

Announcement of the trial date was made today at San Diego, Cal., by District Attorney R. K. Hanger of Fort Worth. Hanger is at the bedside of the ill in California.

While the minister has laid the ground work for a plea of self-defense, Hanger declared that his office had positive proof that the shooting could have been avoided.

The slaying of Chipps in the office of the pastor's publication, the Seachlight, followed a telephone call in which threats were made against his life. Norris declared in a statement immediately following the shooting.

Much of the state's case will hinge on the testimony of a youthful "mystery witness," who Hanger declares will recount an eyewitness version of the laying.

Hanger refused to comment on the accusations of the pastor that he had been the object of "religious persecution."

"I will say this, however," Hanger declared, "that the grand jury investigation, which was very thorough, didn't disclose any conspiracy against Norris' life, his church or anything else."

Jule Coffield's Ford coupe was stolen from the Coffield warehouse in the business district about 10:00 o'clock Saturday night. Passersby saw a man back the car out of warehouse and drive rapidly away, and officers were on his trail within thirty minutes, but the thief was not overtaken, nor has the car been found at this writing. Parties who saw the man's get-away recognized him as a transient who had hung around a local garage all day. Later—the car was found Wednesday in Cameron where it had been abandoned.—Rockdale Reporter.

WHY GOVERNMENT PRICE FIXING WON'T WORK

One of the most persistent fallacies is government price-fixing on competitive commodities. There is already government price-fixing in commodities and services where competition plays no part in price determination. These are railway transportation, electricity, gas, telephone and telegraph, and so on. Here government price-fixing is solely to protect the consumer. There are two fatal objections to government price-fixing for agricultural products, which represent the most competitive business in the world. These are, first, that it will not work; second, that it is always done for the consumer as against the producer.

Government price-fixing for agricultural products would work if at the same time the government regulated wages, profits, middlemen's margins, the production of all commodities and the rationing of all consumers. In short, if the population were enlisted in one vast army, directed and rationed, price-fixing would work, but otherwise not. If the price is fixed on the wheat the farmer sells, then he cannot keep on producing wheat if wages or the cost of harvesting machinery rise, or if the cost of other material he buys rises. So the next step would be the fixation of other prices, and yet other prices.

The United States government fixed the price of wheat but once in our history, and then it was to benefit consumers, not producers. The government might, in an emergency, fix some agricultural prices for the purpose of elevating such prices. Such action would inevitably and speedily lead to outcry from city consumers and a consequent reversal of policy. Indeed, the consumers, not the producers, are most likely to demand and secure food price regulation by government authorities. The farmer, therefore, who favors any form of governmental price-fixing is working against his own interests. He is putting his head into a noose.—James E. Boyle, Professor of Rural Economics, Cornell University, in the Banker-Farmer.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On Fifteen Per Cent Bonds

Mrs. Norris beamed as she greeted Aunt Emmy and exclaimed, "Now I know all my financial worries are over! I wanted to tell you right away—"

"What have you bought this time?" Aunt Emmy demanded suspiciously.

"Well, I haven't paid the money over yet, but I have found the loveliest investment where my money will be perfectly safe and will earn a nice income for me right away," Mrs. Norris said. "I'm going to buy bonds, good safe bonds, that will pay me fifteen per cent interest—"

"Wait a minute, you'll have to go some, Maud Norris, to tell me about 'good safe bonds' that pay fifteen per cent!" Aunt Emmy broke in.

"They are safe,—the man said so and this booklet says so too!"

"Do you know what a bond is?" asked Aunt Emmy.

"No, but it's awfully safe. I'm sure of that," Mrs. Norris said. "Everybody knows that bonds are safe—"

"My dear, some bonds are safe and some are not. When you buy a bond you simply lend your money to the company putting out the bonds. Bond issues are secured generally by the company mortgaging or pledging some of its property. In other words, it offers a certain asset as security that it will return your money to you on the date the bond matures. It agrees to pay you a certain sum each year for the use of your money, usually something between five and eight per cent. No company can afford to pay too much for its money—add as to fifteen per cent bonds—why it would be very unusual for a company to be able to earn enough to enable it to pay fifteen per cent for the privilege of using other people's money,—moreover, if it is good enough to borrow money at all it can borrow it more cheaply than that!"

"Oh dear!" wailed Mrs. Norris, "then a bond isn't a good safe investment—"

"Don't jump at conclusions so fast!" said Aunt Emmy. "I did not say that. A bond is as safe as a church if the company that issues it is financially sound, has a high credit rating and is making money. Before you buy bonds assure yourself that the company behind them is above reproach."

"But the man who told me about these fifteen per cent bonds was so earnest—I felt sure I could believe him."

"Don't turn over any money to him until you have some advice on the bonds from your bank," admonished Aunt Emmy. "Then, if you find out that the bonds are questionable you will escape another bad investment."—A. B. Aymes.

Mason County, Michigan, bankers are pushing hard to replace scrub stock with pure-bred cattle. The plan as outlined by the county agent is to purchase young pure-bred sires and place them wherever a farmer is found who is willing to co-operate in the proposition. The bankers will advance the purchase price and take a note for one year without interest. The idea is to make it as easy as possible for the farmers to procure thoroughbreds.

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

Eating too much meat may clog the Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

BACK ON THE JOB

Fort Worth, Aug. 1.—Neither the identity nor the fate of a man seized from a prominent downtown corner here late last night by six robed men nor the identity of his abductors had been learned this afternoon by city or county officers, they stated.

Struggling and shouting for help, the man was lifted bodily and thrust into a large touring car by one of the robed men, before Patrolman Leslie, standing a few feet away, could interfere or draw a gun. The car then drove north and was out of sight before a pursuit could be organized.

Bystanders, of whom one, Lanier

Webb, 15, newsboy, was standing at the elbow of the man seized, said the white robes bore red crosses. The men were not masked.

HOODED BAND FORMED TO FIGHT CATHOLICS, IS REPORT IN MANILA

Manila, Aug. 1.—Reports that a black hooded Filipino secret society has been organized to war on Catholicism in the Philippines, is causing apprehension in some quarters here. The reports have not been verified but persons spreading them say the society claims 5000 members. The organization is said to call itself the Grand Crusaders of the Orient.

KLAN PLANS NATIONAL MEET AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Aug. 1.—The molding of a convention and parade in Washington late this summer or early fall is under consideration by the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, according to local information. The klan proposed to hold this year's gathering in Philadelphia, but coolness on the part of the city government there is said to have caused consideration of other places. Members of the klan are said to favor returning to the national capital with the intention of making this year's demonstration greater than that of last year, when thousands of white-robed, but unmasked, members of the order marched through Washington's streets.

The parade was then led by Dr. Evans, the imperial wizard, attired in the royal purple of his office.

Before the klan or other organizations may parade here authority must be obtained from the government of the District of Columbia. A permit was issued for last year's parade, with the requirement that the marchers have off their masks.

THERE IS NO SATURATION POINT FOR HONEST VALUE

Build a product that the world needs, better than the world expects, and mounting sales will answer those who are constantly predicting a saturated market.

During the first six months of this year, for instance, Dodge Brothers sold 207,115 motor cars and trucks. This represents a gain of 49.3 per cent over the first six months of 1925, and continues Dodge Brothers in the enviable position of THIRD IN THE INDUSTRY.

For the three weeks ending July 17th, 23,862 motor cars and trucks were delivered to customers—an increase of 62.4 per cent over the same period last year, and impressive evidence that Dodge Brothers great sales gain is continuing through the quiet weeks of mid-summer.

There may be a saturation point for mediocrity, but honest value will always command a great and ever expanding market.

If Back Hurts
Begin on Salts

Flush your Kidneys occasionally if you eat too much meat.

No man or woman who eats lots of meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much meat may form uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood; then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of swelling, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

NOTICE TO CITY WATER USERS

On account of water conditions many people are compelled to use city water for washing and are inconvenienced because of its hardness.

To overcome this add one teaspoonful of Rub-No-More Washing Powder (the original 5c water softener) to each gallon of city water. IT SAVES SOAP.

Besides its 15 household usages it is the only sink and rinsing. No glass of Salts to Flush kidneys if Bladder bothers you.

A Servant of the People

YOUR ELECTRIC light and power system is the most faithful servant in the community. Its hours are long—24 a day—it knows no strikes, and it works for less than any other servant save one—the two cent postage stamp.

In the home it quietly and quickly cooks the meals, sweeps, sews, washes, irons, lights the lamps, and assists the housewife in countless other ways. It never "answers back."

It is the silent partner of industry. In store and factory it makes the machinery go, brings in trade, furnishes economical and efficient light, heat and power, and saves endless hours of labor.

It works with church and school to further the intellectual and spiritual advancement of our children and ourselves. It helps police our streets and safeguard our property. And it is democratic. Rich and poor are served alike. The light responds whether the button is pressed by magnate or mechanic.

Our whole scheme of living in this country to-day is built upon the existence of public utilities and their efficient operation. If Electricity, alone, were cut off for any length of time the whole nation would be thrown out of gear to the point of actual disaster.

The Texas Public Utilities Company serves the public. You are the public. No one is in better position to render fair judgment than are you. The Texas Public Utilities Company is your servant. Encourage this faithful servant as you would any other employe. Do it through the magic of Mutual Helpfulness and Good Will.

BACKACHE

Mississippi Lady Benefited by Taking Cardui.

"I took Cardui for backache and a weakened, run-down condition, and it strengthened and helped me," says Mrs. Mattie Hurt, of Coldwater, Miss.

"Before the birth of my children, when weak and nauseated, I took Cardui. After the birth of my children, when just getting up to do my work, I took a couple of bottles of Cardui and it never failed to strengthen and help me when taking it.

"I seemed to enjoy my food and my back would feel stronger. I don't believe I could have kept going had it not been for Cardui and the strength it gave me.

"When change of life came on I got down in bed. Life seemed to be just a terrible drag. I did not have strength for anything. My back hurt. My limbs hurt. I was so nervous I couldn't rest.

"I knew what Cardui had done, so sent straight for it, and it did just as it had done before—strengthened and built me up."

Too Much Meat Hurts Kidney

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder
bothers you.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up, and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure any one; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.
